

Can a storage cabinet be used as a TV wall

Can you put a TV in a wall?

A more popular TV wall idea is to recess a television within built-in cabinetry. 'Incorporating your TV within a unit allows the technology to blend into the room scheme, so that the TV is not the central focus of the room,' says Natalie Murray-Hurst, interior designer at Murray Hurst interiors.

How to choose a TV wall unit?

Opt for a unit with ample compartments and shelves to house your devices, media collections, and decorative items. Moreover, think about cable management solutions. The right TV unit with storage should offer discreet ways to keep those unsightly cords out of view. A TV wall unit is a focal point that can transform the feel of your living area.

Can you put a TV in a cabinet?

Enclose your TV in a cabinet (even in an armoire) to keep it out of sight and out of mind when not in use. Here, decorative mid-century panels on built-in cabinets slide closed to disguise the television when it's not in use. This antique pine cabinet fits perfectly in this room, which is full of other antiques and natural wood.
