

New Energy Storage Power Station Introduction Icon

Where is SSE Renewables delivering its second battery energy storage system?

SSE Renewables has taken a Final Investment Decision to proceed with, and entered into contracts to deliver, its second battery energy storage system (BESS). The 150MW project is located at the site of SSE's former Ferrybridge coal-fired power station in West Yorkshire, England.

How will UK energy storage demonstration projects help achieve net zero?

The four longer-duration energy storage demonstration projects will help to achieve the UK's plan for net zero by balancing the intermittency of renewable energy, creating more options for sustainable, low-cost energy storage in the UK.

When will Battersea Power Station open?

The former power station, which now contains over 100 shops, 46,000 square metres of office space for technology brand Apple and 254 apartments is set to officially open to the public on 14 October. The redevelopment of Battersea Power Station has been completed

Why did WilkinsonEyre design a power station?

WilkinsonEyre aimed to retain and emphasise as many of grade II* listed power station's original spaces and materials throughout the design, while logically organising the large building's various functions.

Why is industrial energy storage important?

Industrial energy storage systems, offering benefits such as enhanced power reliability, are crucial for bridging self-developed solar power facilities with the public grid, and require effective and secure integrated solutions.

Who is Battersea Power Station development company?

Battersea Power Station Development Company had a vision to bring the power station back to life and so we have been working on the project since 2013 to design and build a solution that would allow the power station to once again be a source of energy.
