Are "free" solar panels a scam?

However, it's important to note that "free" solar panels are not always a scam, but they do require careful consideration. These "free" solar panels are typically offered through solar panel leases or power purchase agreements (PPAs), which allow individuals to install solar panels without the high expense.

Is going solar a scam?

It's likely a scam. While there are some government-funded solar programs for households that qualify, "going solar" isn't free. Honest businesses will tell you exactly how much it'll cost to get and install solar panels. Here's how to steer clear of the scams: Do some research.

Are free solar panels worth it?

"Free" solar panels will save you money because energy from solar power is usually less expensive than energy from the electrical grid. Keep in mind, however, that these savings from solar energy are possible regardless of if your solar panels are leased versus purchased. The long-term cost savings help you determine if solar panels are worth it.

Do Americans get free solar panels?

American homeowners might be eligible for federal tax credits for solar installations or state subsidies for solar energy, but not free panels. The U.S. government does not provide free solar panels, said a U.S. Department of Energy spokesperson. The department urges people to report scams to the .

Are "free" solar panels a good idea?

The concept of "free" or "no-cost" solar panels really is too good to be true. "Free" solar panels are essentially rented from solar companies. While you will reap the benefits of cheaper electricity bills through solar power, you do not own the panels; the solar company does. Once your lease agreement is up, the panels will be removed.

Are 'fake' solar companies a scam?

Beware of any company asking you to make a big deposit before they have completed their installation. This is one of the most common ways 'fake' solar companies have targeted consumers - whereby they take a hefty deposit and then never turn up to carry out the installation. This is common solar scam.
